

Aquatic AV Announces New Products

Expansion into new markets brings state-of-the-art product production to exceed industry standards

San Jose, California, USA – April 5th, 2019 – Aquatic AV, the leading manufacturer of multi-environment entertainment products, is proud to announce the launch of three new products – the CP6, MP6, and WR6. These products have been in production for some time and were crafted to compete with industry standards of weatherproof stereos and accompanying remotes.

The MP6 is a marine and spa stereo engineered with a shallow mount, making this product ideal for installations with limited mounting depth. The MP6 supports a large range of media including Bluetooth, USB, DAB+, MP3, AM, FM, and Aux. With the option of connecting up to 8 speakers, there will never be a dull moment.

Continuing to cater to capacity accommodations, the CP6 marine and spa stereo is the most compact stereo that Aquatic AV has ever produced, giving the utmost flexibility to install in the most limited spaces. Not to be fooled for its size, the quality of audio and options are not compromised, offering the same media options and speaker connectivity as the MP6. With the combination of listening to audio of your choice and equipment that doesn't take up much room at all, the overall experience of this product the most accessible in its line.

The weatherproof WR6 marine remote control was designed for use with waterproof Aquatic AV 6-series marine stereos. The remote comes stocked with 2-way communication allowing system control remotely while simultaneously viewing the song, track, and other system information on the back-lit LCD screen.

“The MP6 and CP6 are nothing like any stereo we've built before. We've crafted the shape and size of these stereos purposefully, to be the most accessible and flexible for any given space” said CEO, Robert Fils.

It comes as no surprise that the award-winning, Aquatic AV, continues to surprise the market with competitive products at an instant.

Founded in February of 2005, this family owned, and operated business has built a global presence. With the launch of these new products, Aquatic AV hopes to maintain its reputation for having reliable, waterproof products at a consumer-friendly price point. For more information, please go to www.aquaticav.com.