Osculati: a leading force in Nautical Accessories in Italy and Europe

Osculati proudly maintains its position as a prominent company in Italy and Europe, specializing in nautical accessories. With an extensive catalog boasting over 22,000 products and a goods availability rate exceeding 98%, Osculati takes pride in being recognized as one of Europe's premier nautical warehouses and a globally well-stocked resource.

Dedicated to serving a diverse customer base spanning five continents, Osculati has established itself as a trusted partner to leading shipyards throughout Europe. Having recently achieved the AEO-F certification (Authorized Economic Operator), which is equivalent to the esteemed C-TPAT certification in the United States, the company underscores its commitment to reliable international supply chain management. This accomplishment enables more streamlined and efficient customs controls for clients.

In addition to its wide-ranging product portfolio, Osculati has proudly developed an in-house Design & Engineering department responsible for creating over 7,000 items designed to offer innovative solutions. Furthermore, the company serves as the exclusive distributor in Italy for several prestigious brands, including Lewmar, Dometic/Oceanair, and Polyform US, further affirming its position as a top provider of nautical accessories.

As Osculati continues to play a significant role in the nautical accessories industry, the company remains dedicated to the pursuit of innovation while upholding a commitment to quality and reliability.
