SUBCOMPACT UNDERWATER LIGHTS FOR COMPLEX HULL SHAPES

Steps, chines, strakes and skegs on performance-oriented hulls often present a challenge when mounting underwater lights. With their subcompact 2.99" diameter, the new SC2-SM Series from Shadow-Caster makes it easy for OEMs, custom boatbuilders and DIYers to install a premium—and incredibly reliable—underwater lighting solution on virtually any hull. The fixtures debut at IBEX, Tampa, Florida, October 3-5, booth 3-1735.

Designed and manufactured in the USA, Shadow-Caster SC2-SM Series lights provide 24 watts and up to 3,000 lumens of intense LED lighting. The fixtures are available in four lamp colors: Bimini Blue, Great White and Full Color. All have a 0.58" H low-profile IP68 waterproof housing in a choice of bronze or black, high-strength composite. They surface mount with three included screws.

The SC2-SM Series uses a proprietary gel-filled design. Injected throughout the entire unit, the fluid eliminates condensation and/or water intrusion when under stress. The lens is a rugged, scratch-resistant tempered glass that's impervious to acetone and other solvents, and delivers a 120° beam angle for optimum illumination.

Drawing a mere two amps when operating on 12V, the SC2-SM Series uses 10–30V input power. They feature transient surge and reverse polarity protection. With thermal throttling technology, the fixtures can be run safely out of the water.
